Come and hear Lichon play in St. Nectan's Stoke on Saturday 28th June at 8pm. Lichon's music is created with midi data collected from the environment, including field recordings and biodata. This data is accompanied by improvised responses on violin, viola, guitar and live electronics. The music created is a reflection upon and response to the landscapes and intricate patterns found in flora and fauna. It encourages a shift in how humans think, how we relate to nature and how we are connected to this earth, our home. Entry £8. Profits to The Friends of St. Nectan's.

From Stephen Skinner

Alwington Church are holding a Special Songs of Praise this Sunday, 29th at 5pm on the subject of Gifts. It will be followed by a barbecue. Everyone is invited! I love the notion that every one of us has a variety of gifts, to share with others.

According to the Parable of the Talents, God has generously given these for us to use well to bless others! Some of these enable the smooth running of the Church. Others are to help in serving our communities, and of course in our places of work and leisure. Some are very practical – such as ensuring a good barbecue! Let's affirm each other's gifts and celebrate them!" Stephen
