Scarecrow Festival – Methodist Church Entry

Congratulations to Keith Langlois on making an excellent effigy of John Wesley, which was the Methodist Church's entry in last week's Scarecrow Festival.

St. Sampson Feast Day 28th July

St. Sampson was born in Wales. He was educated in Llantwit where he was ordained deacon and priest. After living for a time as a hermit near the river Severn he went to Dol in Brittany where he exercised episcopal jurisdiction. He visited Guernsey and is reputed to have landed near to where St. Sampson's Church now stands.

Methodist Minister's Reflection for July

Dear Friends,

I write this on the first day of Wimbledon fortnight – the oldest tennis tournament in the world. I went to Wimbledon once, many years ago. Amongst other things, I remember the strawberries! Remember the time when strawberries were only available during the summer? I still like the ones grown locally – more flavour, fewer 'food miles'.

My dad once announced that the best thing to put on strawberries, rather than cream and / or sugar, is black pepper, freshly ground of course. If you've never tried it, give it a go, especially as part of a summer salad. This year, one supermarket is selling strawberry and cream sandwiches – these are not just sandwiches, if you know what I mean. Sometimes, we need to freshen things up while retaining the essence of what we love.

This is how the gospel might be told to those belonging to Gen Z:

*bruh we messed up
god pulled a "fine, i'll do it myself"
jesus came, lived the vibes, died for our mess, then hit respawn 3 days later
now we get grace, not groundings eternal life? bet.
#heDidTheThing #gospelvibes #jesuswon*

Don't worry, I'm not having another midlife crisis!

Enjoy the summer,

Howard
