Boundaries and Bins

The government is proposing a major shake-up of local government which would abolish district councils like Lancaster City Council in favour of new unitary authorities. These new councils would take charge of all local services in their area, from bin collections to social care. Several options are being considered and each involve the Lancaster district joining with other areas in Lancashire. Proposals covering the whole of the county need to be submitted by November 28th, and to decide what form best fits its district, the city council is now asking for people's views: www.lancaster.gov.uk/lgr-survey

Over the coming months changes are happening with regard to household waste and recycling. There will be leaflets delivered as it is being rolled out, but if you want to get informed early please see the Council's webpage: www.lancaster.gov.uk/waste-and-recycling/household-waste/food-waste
