The churchwardens of Treslothan Church have reluctantly decided that the church cannot be left open when unmanned, due to unwelcome behaviour by visitors. Until further notice, therefore, the church will only be open for advertised services while the PCC considers next steps.

Christmas Carols

A brilliant turn-out for the Churches Together in Camborne Christmas carols! We brightened the twilight at Tesco – thanks to everyone for coming.

Camborne Church Nativity

Our beautiful 'homespun' nativity took place on the first Sunday in December. The weather was dreadful and the rain poured down in sheets! Shepherds and Angels hurried into the church hall to stay as dry as possible and get warm. But the atmosphere within the hall was a hive of much excitement of what was to come! Then the news struck! One of our kings had fallen ill along with an innkeeper! What to do? Thankfully two very eager students from St M&M school happily agreed to double up on their roles and so all was well once again. We ran through the scripts and bustled to ready ourselves. We invited Susan to come and say a pray with us which she kindly did. And so our adventure began... We all trooped into the church and found our places. The nativity was introduced by myself and Maxim and then the narrators began.... The play went just as it should do. With a king tripping over their robes. One losing their crown, someone else forgetting their words and angels running to their next post! It was wonderful because it wasn't perfect....it was full of human flaws. It was done with love, excitement, joy, panic... Perfection doesn't exist. And those that constantly seek it are often disappointed. For me, it was just as it should have been. Everyone did an amazing job. They made it what it was and I would like to thank them all from the Sunday School and our Church School for all that they did. The lovely prayers that had been written. The hard work learning their lines and for those standing up to the plate, when it was needed. We had over 120 people in the church that morning. All joining together to remember the greatest story ever told. Such a blessing to be a part of that. This will be my last nativity as Sunday School teacher as I have now stood down. However, the Church School have invited me to continue to work alongside them, which I am excited to do...so watch this space. We pray for one and all to have a peaceful and blessed 2026. Thank you all for the support you have given me over the years in my role as Sunday School Teacher. It was always respected and most appreciated. Thank you. Ems xxx

A wonderful Christmas season at Treslothan!

On the last Sunday before Christmas, Rev'd Hilary led the service of nine carols and readings and Sally, lay reader preached.

Then we had a very successful Christingle and crib service led by Rev'd Rosheen on Christmas Eve. 95 adults and 60 children attended, Sally demonstrated how to make a giant Christingle and 60 Christingles were distributed. Almost £150 will be donated to the Children's society from the collection.

On Christmas morning there were four under 16s with their parents and at the Cluster service on 28th December there were representatives from each of the five Camborne churches. It was great to entertain our church families in celebration of our patron saint, with festive fare following the service officiated by Rev'd Graham, with servers David Thomas from Camborne church and Bernard from Roskear.

Many thanks everyone for all your hard work!
