APPLES OF GOLD

As we begin Lent, you might think there is little new to say about this familiar season of the Church year. But in reflecting on what I would write, I was reminded that March 2026 also marks the twenty-first anniversary of the return of a favourite cultural icon. Doctor Who returned to our screens on 26 March 2005, introducing a whole new generation of children and adults to a series that has become a British cultural phenomenon on a par with Sherlock Holmes. Even if science fiction isn't your thing, the show has left its mark on our language, with words like "Dalek" and "TARDIS" now appearing in the Oxford English Dictionary.

You might be wondering what Doctor Who has to do with Lent. On the surface, very little. Yet at the heart of the show is the idea of "regeneration," by which the Doctor changes appearance and is completely renewed. In a different way, the Christian faith places regeneration at the centre of its message. Lent is a season when we are invited to open ourselves to the renewing power of God, allowing spiritual growth and transformation in our lives.

Traditionally, Lent has been a time of self-reflection, prayer, discipline, and sometimes abstinence. These may not sound exciting in our instant-gratification culture, but these simple spiritual practices help us grow closer to God and strengthen our faith. Lent gives us space to examine our lives, to ask where God is calling us to change, and to allow the Holy Spirit to renew us from within.

This year, Ash Wednesday falls on Wednesday 18 February. You are warmly welcome to our Ash Wednesday service at 10.30am where the sign of the cross in ashes reminds us of our need for God and of God's enduring love, forgiveness, and renewal.

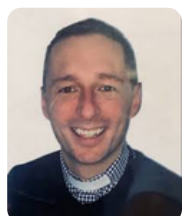

As part of our Lenten journey, we will be running a four-week Lent Study Group called 'Journeying with Jesus', starting on Thursday 5 March at 7.00pm in the Cavendish Chapel. This course, based on Luke chapters 9–19, invites us to walk prayerfully with Jesus on his journey towards Jerusalem. We will explore how he teaches, listens, challenges, and encourages those he meets along the way. It is a space for reflection, conversation, and shared learning, open to all, whether you are new to Bible study or a seasoned hand!

This year also marks the centenary of the Diocese of Blackburn. One hundred years ago, the diocese was created to serve the people and communities of Lancashire in all their diversity and challenge. Bishops Philip, Jill, and Joe have invited all parishes to mark this special milestone locally over the weekend of 11–13 September. Keep your eyes peeled for details as they emerge – it promises to be a joyful celebration of faith, service, and community across the diocese.

As we enter this Lent, rather than focusing solely on giving something up, I encourage you to consider "taking something up": inviting God to begin the process of spiritual regeneration in your life. True regeneration is life-changing and life-affirming, shaping us to be more like Jesus and enabling us to be signposts of God's kingdom in our communities. Lent is a chance to allow God to work in our hearts, to help us lay aside what hinders our journey with him, and to embrace the small, patient signs of God's presence along the way.

May this Lent be a season of renewal, reflection, and hope. May we, like the Doctor, be open to regeneration – allowing God to transform us, day by day, and lead us toward the fullness of life in Christ.

With my prayers and every blessing,
Jon.

Brindle Historical Society

ORGANISED CRIME AND COVERT POLICING

History is the study of the past, but should it still be called history if people remember it within their own lifetime? The answer is yes. Events such as the miners' strike or 9/11 are unquestionably history, so the Brindle Historical Society makes no apology for hosting a talk in January about events from the 1990s.

The talk was delivered by author and former detective Roger Price, who gave a fascinating and frequently entertaining account of his career with Lancashire Constabulary. He began with a light-hearted and humorous overview of his probationary year, recalling the various "character-building" tricks played on him during training. It all sounded less like modern policing and more like an episode of Life on Mars.

Having survived this initiation, Roger moved through a series of gradually more interesting roles before eventually joining CID. The talk then turned to the rather more serious work he later undertook with the national drugs squad, where the laughs were fewer but the stories no less gripping.

Sadly, for those unable to attend, almost all of the juiciest details from Roger's more intriguing cases cannot be committed to print – for reasons best left unexplored. You'll therefore have to rely on your imagination. To help it along, you could always read one or two of Roger's crime novels which, whilst technically fiction, draw on his real-life experiences and give a strong hint that the truth was probably even stranger.

When he was asked whether he ever felt nervous about his safety following his police career, Roger said that he didn't because in doing his job he always treated criminals fairly and he believed that they respected that.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S AGM Monday 16 February at 7:30 pm.

The meeting is open to everyone, including non-members, and is free to attend. The formal agenda will last around 20 minutes, followed by an informal session where members are invited to bring an old artefact and share its history.

MARCH MEETING Monday 16 March

Adrian Tayler will explore the development of British theatre, focusing on the Lancaster Grand and the many acts that have appeared there over the years. Admission is free for Historical Society members and £5 for guests, including tea or coffee, biscuits, and time to chat.

BRINDLE CUKOO WALKS

The annual Brindle Cuckoo Walks are this year scheduled to take place on Saturday April 18th. These walks began in 2004 as part of a very busy period of fundraising to raise money to build the Community Hall on Water Street. Many events were organised in the years prior to the Hall's formal opening in August 2006 and the Cuckoo Walks played their part.

The first walks took place on Saturday 16th October 2004 and offered distances of three, six and twelve miles. These proved very successful, and so the event was repeated the following April. This time, 147 people took part, surprising the organisers (and the kitchen staff!) since many people turned up unexpectedly on the day. The event turned in a profit of £493 and for the next few years all the money raised from this activity went to the Brindle Community Hall. For 2006, an additional walk of 24 miles was offered for the truly hardy. These walkers set off at 8am, two hours before everyone else, and only returned back at tea time. Lack of demand soon consigned this distance to the history books, but a new distance of nine miles was added.

The walks proved very popular each year until Covid forced a stop in 2020 and the walks were only restored in 2023 after this loss of momentum.

For 2026, a variety of routes and distances will be available once more to walkers of all abilities ranging from a three mile fully accessible route to a more challenging twelve mile hike up onto the moors above Brinscall.

Last year on this social day out, around 160 people of all abilities turned out on a lovely day and raised well over £1,000 for two charities. This year, the charities chosen are the Lancashire Wildlife Trust and the Bowland and Pennine Mountain Rescue organisation.

Bookings are now being taken through <https://www.trybooking.com/uk/events/landing/99637>. The price of £18 for adults and £8 for juniors (under 16) includes a fully guided walk and a two-course meal provided by the Cavendish Arms at the finish. A hot or cold drink will also be provided and home-made cakes and biscuits will be available to buy. Babies in prams/pushchairs on the accessible walk are free and dogs are permitted on three of the walks.
