Sunday 31st May

11.00am - Holy Communion - Wyre Piddle

Sunday 14th June at 11.00am in Cropthorne Church

The river is such an asset to where we live and so it is great to have a service with The Avonvale River Avon Action Group to celebrate the river and pray a blessing upon it and all who work to promote its health. The service of 30-40 minutes will include hymns, a celebration of the river and a short talk from one of the group members about their work. The Celebration will form part of a series of services along the river that day from Tewkesbury, to Pershore, Evesham, Stratford and Rugby. Do come along if you can and please invite others to join us.

An outdoor celebration by the river was considered but felt there was insufficient time to sort the logistics! Another year perhaps?

Music for Worship

More of our churches rely on technology to supply the music for our worship. To facilitate current needs and prepare for a future when technology may take a bigger part in our worship, the Pershore and Evesham Deanery has organised a practical workshop to help us gain the confidence in using tech. On the evening, several people will offer short examples of what they are doing. There will be an opportunity to share good practice, ask questions and take note of some of the copyright questions involved. The Bishop's Worship and Liturgy Adviser, Doug Chaplin will help to facilitate this evening alongside deanery clergy. The event will be held at St

Eco Church - caring for God's creation

Help just outside

As part of Eco church we encourage supporting and reducing damage to the natural world, but nature helps us too, as we may have experienced.

The natural world is full of repeating patterns, called fractals. These can be found in leaves, cloud patterns, ocean waves, snowflakes and flower petals, for example. The frond of a fern especially shows the repeating pattern very clearly. There have been several scientific studies to show that simply noticing these patterns can have a calming effect upon us. Now latest research has shown there may also be beneficial effects for our immunity systems by spending time in green spaces.
