First Sunday after Trinity Sunday 7 June 2026 Sung Eucharist Rev'd Emma Durose

Collect:

O God,
the strength of all those who put their trust in you, mercifully accept our prayers and, because through the weakness of our mortal nature we can do no good thing without you, grant us the help of your grace, that in the keeping of your commandments we may please you both in will and deed; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

A reading from the book of Hosea

I will return again to my place until they acknowledge their guilt and seek my face. In their distress they will beg my favour: "Come, let us return to the LORD, for it is he who has torn, and he will heal us; he has struck down, and he will bind us up.

After two days he will revive us; on the third day he will raise us up, that we may live before him.

Let us know, let us press on to know the LORD; his appearing is as sure as the dawn; he will come to us like the showers, like the spring rains that water the earth."

What shall I do with you, O Ephraim?
What shall I do with you, O Judah? Your love is like a morning cloud, like the dew that goes away early.

Therefore I have hewn them by the prophets; I have killed them by the words of my mouth, and my judgment goes forth as the light. For I desire steadfast love and not sacrifice, the knowledge of God rather than burnt offerings.

A reading from the letter of Paul to the Romans

For the promise that he would inherit the world did not come to Abraham or to his descendants through the law but through the righteousness of faith.

For if it is the adherents of the law who are to be the heirs, faith is null and the promise is void. For the law brings wrath, but where there is no law, neither is there transgression.

For this reason the promise depends on faith, in order that it may rest on grace, so that it may be guaranteed to all his descendants, not only to the adherents of the law but also to those who share the faith of Abraham (who is the father of all of us, as it is written, "I have made you the father of many nations"), in the presence of the God in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into existence the things that do not exist.

Hoping against hope, he believed that he would become "the father of many nations," according to what was said, "So shall your descendants be."

He did not weaken in faith when he considered his own body, which was already as good as dead (for he was about a hundred years old), and the barrenness of Sarah's womb.

No distrust made him waver concerning the promise of God, but he grew strong in his faith as he gave glory to God, being fully convinced that God was able to do what he had promised.

Therefore it "was reckoned to him as righteousness." Now the words, "it was reckoned to him," were written not for his sake alone but for ours also. It will be reckoned to us who believe in him who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead, who was handed over for our trespasses and was raised for our justification.

The Gospel of Matthew

As Jesus was walking along, he saw a man called Matthew sitting at the tax-collection station, and he said to him, "Follow me." And he got up and followed him.

And as he sat at dinner in the house, many tax collectors and sinners came and were sitting with Jesus and his disciples.

When the Pharisees saw this, they said to his disciples, "Why does your teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?"

But when he heard this, he said, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. Go and learn what this means, 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice.' For I have not come to call the righteous but sinners."

While he was saying these things to them, suddenly a leader came in and knelt before him, saying, "My daughter has just died, but come and lay your hand on her, and she will live."

And Jesus got up and followed him, with his disciples. Then suddenly a woman who had been suffering from a flow of blood for twelve years came up behind him and touched the fringe of his cloak, for she was saying to herself, "If I only touch his cloak, I will be made well."

Jesus turned, and seeing her he said, "Take heart, daughter; your faith has made you well." and the woman was made well from that moment.

When Jesus came to the leader's house and saw the flute players and the crowd making a commotion, he said, "Go away, for the girl is not dead but sleeping." And they laughed at him.

But when the crowd had been put outside, he went in and took her by the hand, and the girl got up. And the report of this spread through all of that district.

Post Communion Prayer:

Eternal Father,
we thank you for nourishing us with these heavenly gifts:
may our communion strengthen us in faith, build us up in hope, and make us grow in love; for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

We continue to pray for all people fleeing violence and oppression. For all exploited by people smugglers and for refugees across the world.

For those affected by natural disasters around the world. Help us to value the environment so that we can all work to reverse climate change and global warming.

In the diocese cycle of prayer: ARCHDEACONS' VISITATION

Heavenly Father, as the Archdeacons' Visitations approach we thank You for the privilege of being trusted to participate in Your mission to the world in so many varied ways, and that You call and equip each of us to represent You and show people the Way to Jesus. As we come to Him, Your precious Son, the living stone, rejected by humanity but chosen and precious in Your sight, help us, together with our Churchwardens being admitted in this season, to become ever more like living stones that are built into a spiritual house, to Your glory, now and for ever.
Amen.

1st Sunday after Trinity - The Scottish Episcopal Church

Prayers for 1st Sunday after Trinity

Let us pray to God, who hears the prayers of sinners who trust in his mercy.

Confirm the Church as the true heir of the promise ...Empower your people to declare in their time your everlasting love.

Look with pity on the world that is often sick and does not know its need of healing...lift the crushing weight of fear from those who live by law without mercy.

Bless our families, friends and neighbours with health of mind and body...Fill us with love and forgiveness for those who have offended us...Help us to receive them in love, acknowledging our own need of healing and pardon.

We pray for the sick, especially:
Michael Newman, Sharron Simcock, Joan Wood, Pat Rogers, Lilian Hosking, Joan Whitford, Roderick & Jackie Dare, Billy Power and young Lilly.

Have pity on those who feel that society has despised and rejected them...Come with the healing power to the chronically sick who despair of health...Make them know that they are not forsaken in their suffering.

Rise up to eternal life the souls of the departed...Have mercy on all who mourn, especially for the death of a children.

We remember the faithful departed;
Stanley Jewell, Elsa Blackmore, Edwin Start Pr. David Seddon (8th), Hilda Wade, Phyllis Gedye (9th), Gladys Dunstan (10th), Peter Richards (11th) David Chinn, Wilfred Harris, Harry Stansfield (12th), Frederick Lang, Rex Butland (13th).

That we may be made whole through faith in Christ, we pray in his name.
