Father God, as the new school term begins, we pray that all children from nursery to university will make the most of the opportunities that they have. We pray that they will be diligent students, eager to learn and respectful of those who teach them. We give thanks for all those who are responsible for education planning, policy making and administration. For school governors who play the role of a critical friend in the life of the school. Help them to make wise decisions, to know when to affirm and when to ask questions and we ask you to bless all teachers, giving thanks for their enthusiasm and hard work and for all they invest in the children and young people they teach. Amen.
