Methodist Minister's Reflection for September

The other day I noticed a 5p coin on the floor of a supermarket and wondered whether it was worth bending down to pick it up. Five pence doesn't buy much these days.

It took me back to earlier times. Many will remember finding a shilling and feeling genuinely pleased – or the old expression “taking the King's shilling,” when a single coin carried far more significance than its face value.

Times change. Inflation erodes, coins disappear, and what once seemed valuable becomes almost forgotten. Thankfully, God's way of measuring worth never changes.

Jesus told a story about a woman who searched her house until she found one lost coin – not because it made her rich, but because it mattered. Every person matters to God in exactly that way. Our worth is not measured by wealth, success or usefulness, but by the simple fact that we are created in his image and loved beyond measure.

While the value of money rises and falls, your worth remains constant in the eyes of God.

Every blessing,

Howard Stringer
