The Lord is my rock....

I know they say that time speeds up as you get older and August has proved that to be true for me. I remember when the long summer holidays stretched before me. Weeks that, as a child, I filled with reading, day trips, and playing out (not that I did much of that!). I very much hope and pray that the school holidays have, for all of you, been full of fun, laughter and love in whatever you have been doing and wherever you have visited.

August for Jon and family was the opportunity to take a well-earned break away from the parish and trusting me to hold the fort couple of weeks! The P were off and I was without my instructor for the first time. The first Sunday morning had a 9 a.m. service, a 10.30 a.m. service and then a baptism after that. I was prepared, I had practiced, I was ready! But of course, I had reckoned without God's sense of humour, a rookie error, so I could only smile when at the Altar, arms aloft, the microphone wasn't working. I could only wait while we sorted out what the Old Testament reading was. And thank Pat for being so professional and reading the passage from Isaiah so beautifully. And what a blessing Kenny and his family were and how precious their connection with Brindle St James.

What a special few weeks which have made a significant impact on my faith life. I experienced the love of our living Lord in the smiles and the encouragement of our church family. I glimpsed the kingdom in the acts of kindness and generosity, the cup of tea thrust in my hand, the prayerful waiting as I concluded distributing holy communion. I saw many acts of service to God and to each other, the holding of a steadying arm at the Altar rail, the offer of a listening ear, the counting of the collection plate and many other tasks that faithful servants of God undertake every week. I was both humbled and filled with joy and I can only offer a grateful thanks for all that our church members do.

Throughout August in our scripture readings from Luke's gospel chapters 12 and 13, we have been reminded that material possessions are temporary and that we should not be storing up treasure here on earth, but encouraged to give to those who are poor and in need. Our focus, indeed our hearts desire should be on the treasure of the kingdom of God. Living as a Christian is not necessarily easy and following Jesus and living out our Christian faith and values can mean can be divided, separated (spiritually) from other people, even our friends and family. The story of the crippled woman who Jesus cured so she was able to stand up straight for the first time in 18 years illustrates clearly that it is only through Jesus that we experience true freedom and can stand upright and to be fully ourselves, unburdened from our sin. That is the wonder and the joy of faith and a Christian life which I witness often and was so aware of this summer.

We celebrated the life of Michael Stephenson Lee whose funeral took place on 21 August. Michael and his wife Brenda have been active members of Brindle St James for nearly three decades. Michael served on the Parochial Church Council (PCC) and was involved in several church projects and fundraising. We continue to hold Brenda and son Jeremy and the whole family in our prayers.

August ended with the wedding of Emily and Matt who were blessed with fine weather as they shared their special day with family and friends. Every wedding is special, each one reflects the love and the story of the couple's relationship, but throughout the ceremony they all know the presence, guidance and blessing of God.

We keep our gaze focused on Jesus and the kingdom of God as we wave good bye to summer. The new term is upon us, the children are returning to school, some are off to college and university and some people are starting new jobs. Our church calendar begins to trot towards Harvest Festival, including a pie and peas harvest supper and a scarecrow competition. Then we begin our season of remembrance, with All Souls and Remembrance Sunday and the gallop through Advent to Christmas.

It is easy to become distracted as we pick up the threads of our every day life, as routine reasserts itself and we are busy. The verses from Luke's gospel also remind us that we should always be watchful and waiting for Jesus and rejoicing in all the wonderful things he was and is doing.

The Collect prayer for the end of August and the start of September sums it all up beautifully and it is simply this:

*God of glory,
the end of our searching,
help us to lay aside all that prevents us from seeking your kingdom,
and to give all that we have to gain the pearl
beyond price,
through our Saviour Jesus Christ.*

Amen

Sam.
