

Story of the Wise Men Part 2

The next day after finding the Alverton Hotel to stay which also had a chapel, they continued on their journey.

They made their way up the A30 with the camels carrying their load with the plan to stop at Castle Drogo.

Unfortunately the castle could not be found so the journey continued to Exeter where they decided to stay the night.

The next day after a relaxing breakfast it was time to continue east. There was a problem as the camels could not use the M5. Fortunately they managed to find a lift in a horse lorry, where the camels had some well-deserved relaxation.

On the way, there was a stop at Gloucester Services which confused the wise men as it did not look like a normal service station. However, they were glad to have a coffee overlooking the lake before continuing to the town of Evesham.
