Not just about 'turning up' or even 'helping out'!

By Revd Canon Matt Tarling

BEING a part of a church is different to being a member of social club or a volunteer with a local charity. A member of a social club can pay their subs and enjoy all the benefits of access to the club, good rates at the bar and advanced notice of the next turn on the stage. Being a member is about turning up and making the most of it. A volunteer with a local charity will give some of their time generously to help the charity meet its aims. That could be by doing a variety of things but it's always with the desire to help out.

Of course, church is about turning up and it's about helping out. But it's not only about those things. That's because when you are part of a church you are a member of a body and are included in the family. As a body and as a family, each part is present (they 'turn up') and each member is able to do stuff (they 'help out'). However, we have a very particular reason to do that.

When Saint Paul was writing to the Ephesians about being 'the church' he described life together as God's people like this:

So Christ himself gave the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, the pastors and teachers, to equip his people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ.

Then we will no longer be infants, tossed back and forth by the waves, and blown here and there by every wind of teaching and by the cunning and craftiness of people in their deceitful scheming. Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will grow to become in every respect the mature body of him who is the head, that is, Christ. From him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work. (Ephesians 4:11-16)

You'll notice that Jesus Christ himself has given the church a whole range of gifts – talents, skills, passions – that will build up the whole church in the faith. That is for a purpose. First it fosters unity as people grow together in their trust in and knowledge of Jesus (v13). Secondly it enables everyone to build each other up so as to persevere in that faith (v14-15).

Serving in the church is about love. It's our way of showing that we love one another and want to be united and encouraged together in the faith. There are lots of ways in which we can serve. We can offer to make refreshments on Sunday mornings or help in the crèche. We can give time to children or youth work. We can support Christianity Explored by praying for those attending. We can join the Parochial Church Council when elections come up in April. We can make flower arrangements, organise a session with Ladies at St Paul's, support baptism families or become a pastoral team member. There are lots of opportunities!

So church isn't just about 'turning up' or even about 'helping out'. It's about serving within our church family, being part of the body of Christ, loving one another as Christ Jesus loves us.

New Archbishop of Canterbury

SARAH Mullally DBE has become the 106th Archbishop of Canterbury, following her Confirmation of Election at St Paul's Cathedral in late January, becoming the first woman to hold the office in its 1,400-year history.

Following the Confirmation of Election, Archbishop Sarah will be installed during a special service at Canterbury Cathedral in March, where she will preach her first sermon as Archbishop of Canterbury.

Speaking ahead of the Confirmation of Election service, Archbishop Sarah said: "I want us to be a Church that always listens to the voices of those who have been ignored or overlooked, among them victims and survivors of church abuse who have often been let down.

"I am committed to equipping the Church to be a kind and safe place that cares for everyone, especially those who are vulnerable, as we rise to the challenge of God's call to justice, equity, peace and the care of creation."

Please hold Archbishop Sarah in your prayers.

Rt Revd Sarah Clark to be next Bishop of Ely

IT has been announced by 10 Downing Street that the Rt Revd Sarah Clark, Bishop of Jarrow and acting Bishop of Durham, is to be the next Bishop of Ely.

Commenting on her appointment, Bishop Sarah said: "There is of course real sadness for me in leaving Durham Diocese. I believe it will have been obvious to you that I have loved being here and have been at home in the North East, in the communities we serve and in the Diocesan family. It is amongst you that I have learned what it means to be a bishop, called to serve and care for the flock of Christ, with the pattern of the Good Shepherd before me. You have shaped me and helped me grow into the bishop that God has called me to be. I know that all I have been and done has only been possible because of the wonderful people I have shared ministry with."

Bishop Sarah joined the diocese as Bishop of Jarrow in 2019, and for the past two years has been acting Bishop of Durham following the retirement of the Rt Revd Paul Butler.

The Dean of Durham, the Very Reverend Dr Philip Plyming said: "Bishop Sarah's ministry has been deeply appreciated across Durham Diocese, and especially over the last two years when she has taken on additional leadership responsibilities as Acting Bishop of Durham. She has been connected in special ways with diverse communities across the Diocese and has won both their respect and their affection. As a leader of people she has set the highest standards of accountability, faithfulness and dependence on the Lord in prayer, and we will greatly miss her insightful preaching, pastoral wisdom and godly character. At the same time, we know that her heart for mission and love for all God's people will stand her in the best stead as she responds to this new call of God to serve as Bishop of Ely, and we will be holding her and all the people she is called to serve in our prayers."

The Vice-Chair of the Diocesan Board of Finance, Canon Margaret Vaughan, and the Diocesan Secretary, Canon James Morgan said: "We would like to thank Bishop Sarah for her leadership as Acting Diocesan Bishop during the episcopal vacancy and her ministry as Bishop of Jarrow. Her role as sponsoring bishop for our curates, ordinands and lay leaders in training, in championing the diocesan transformation and supporting the continuing development of our safeguarding practices has inspired progress across our diocese. We wish her well as she prepares to serve as Bishop of Ely and pray for her and the people of the Diocese of Ely as she takes up this new role."

As Bishop Sarah prepares to take up her new role, the diocesan leadership will work with the Archbishop of York to make interim arrangements for the remainder of the Durham episcopal vacancy, and further announcements will be made in due course on that, as well as the timings for Bishop Sarah leaving the diocese.
