

St. Andrew's Aldringham

Jubilee Newsletter

Well, here we are, in the middle of the Jubilee long weekend. Fabulous weather yesterday and fingers crossed that continues through to Sunday so we can enjoy our picnic and games on The Green on Sunday.

And look: here is a wonderful Jubilee flower arrangement by Rita Browne and the flowers team. Isn't that great! If you haven't seen it in the church, its worth a visit.

Yesterday morning we welcomed people to St. Andrew's where Mish had put together a wide variety of songs which we sang as an amateur, one performance only Aldringham Choir.

On Sunday (tomorrow, 11.00) Revd Jo Mabey will lead us in a service not only to celebrate Pentecost but also to honour Her Majesty the Queen. The choir promise to do us proud.

Sunday services will continue as usual at 11 am with the hope that many of these will be outdoor in the churchyard as was enjoyed by so many last year.

Looking forward, Revd Sarah du Boulay will be licensed as our new priest-in-charge on Monday 30 June, 7.30 pm in Aldeburgh church. All are welcome to attend and to welcome Sarah.

Some dates for your diary: The annual Raking Days when we cut and rake the long grass from the churchyard will be on 21 and 22 July.

We don't have a date for the Animal Service at the moment but that will be sometime mid August. Details to follow.

The Friends of St. Andrew's have been busy this year and have raised £1,094 for the Fabric Fund which pays for maintenance and improvement of the church building and its contents. Well done the Friends.

And finally, in the course of his sermon last Sunday the Revd Nic Stuchfield described his work with the Suffolk Coastal Debt Centre – SCDC which he chairs. This offers support to those in need of debt advice.

SCDC has its own specialists in debt coaching. What it would now like to find is an ambassador in every local congregation. If you would like to help SCDC and be an ambassador or otherwise support it, please contact Revd Nic Stuchfield

nic@skc.church

t: 01728 452423

m: 07768 277559