FROM THE RECTOR:

Dear friends

What's my purpose?

Cry has three letters but so does joy.

Hate has four letters but so does love.

Enemies has seven letters but so does friends.

Failure has seven letters but so does success.

Negativity had ten letters but so does positivity.

You always have a choice. So choose the better side.

"What's my purpose in life?" I asked God. "What if I told you that you fulfilled it when you took an extra hour to talk to your children about their life?" God said. "Or when you paid for that couple in the restaurant? Or when you saved that dog in traffic? Or when you tied your father's shoes for him?"

"Your problem is that you equate your purpose with goal-based achievement. I'm not interested in your achievements, just your heart. When you chose to act out of kindness, compassion and love, you are already aligned with your true purpose."

"No need to look any further!"

Do everything in love. 1 Corinthians 16:14

Every blessing parties with foolish behaviour. (Nothing changes!) In 1823 he caught syphilis.

He adored Beethoven, who gave him encouragement, but they did not meet until Beethoven was on his death bed. Schubert was a torch-bearer at his funeral in 1827.

Schubert died in 1828, less than two months before his thirty-second birthday. The cause of death was given as typhoid, not syphilis, which some writers have claimed. He was finally laid to rest close to Beethoven.

One of his very close friends was Franz Eckel who said: Schubert's life was one of inner spiritual thought and was seldom expressed in words, but almost entirely in music.

The Great Composers

the 2nd in an occasional series by Bel Canto

FRANZ SCHUBERT

1797—1828

Schubert is a favourite of many people who love his soul-searching and heartfelt gentleness, so different from the heavier Wagner and Bach. He is included in the Romantic era of music, which says it all.

He was born into a musical family in Vienna, in 1797. When he was only eight years old he sang in a church choir, and his father introduced him to the violin. This exceptionally talented boy was already a good pianist and the violin was now added to his pleasure. Three years later, aged eleven, he was accepted into the Vienna Court Chapel as a chorister, with Salieri as his mentor. He studied composition and wrote a great many works including his first symphony. When he reached the age of sixteen he left the Court Chapel to begin training as a teacher which was the wish of his father who ran his own school.

Music, however, was his only interest and in due course he gave up his work as a teacher. He continued to compose an astounding number of works - sacred, choral, 600 songs, over 70 chamber works, and over 20 piano sonatas.

The Esterhazy family admired Schubert's talent and they employed him as a music teacher to their children. He was then twenty-one, a remarkably young age for such an exceptional musician. By this time he had written another two symphonies and notably his much-loved song cycle The Erl King (D328).

He had many young friends who spent evenings with him at home, where he played his music. These were known as "Schubertiads". They sang, they danced, they drank wine, and there were sometimes wild

HELP!! GARDENING CORRESPONDENT NEEDED!

I am sad to announce that Will Barrow is hanging up the trowel and can no longer supply us with our beloved gardening page. Between them, Will & Greenfingers have done a huge amount for the magazine over many, many years and we owe them our gratitude. THANK YOU.

Will's last article will appear next month.

So ... would you, or someone you know, like to take over as gardening correspondent? I would be more than happy to hear from you! My contact details are on page 2. Ring me for a chat if you want to find out more.

Your own Greenfingers—in your July Garden with Will Barrow

Most gardeners know the importance of the basic rule to use the correct soil for various plants either alkaline, or acid (ericaceous), e.g. Rhododendrons, Camellias, Azaleas, Magnolias must have acid soil, otherwise the results will be disastrous.

Gardening, however, is a strange beast, even a joker, and one adventurous gardener made headlines in a horticultural magazine which showed images of his splendid displays of all the above plants grown in his soil which was loamy chalk with limestone scree. Definitely not ericaceous! His garden had been what he described as 'a limestone quarry'. He decided to experiment and plant acid-lovers. The results speak for themselves with a total of over five hundred glorious plants. This enterprising gardener became a respected member of the RHS's Rhododendron, Camellia and Magnolia Group, and he is much acclaimed world-wide.

Today's news is full of the prohibition of various things, sometimes after a complaint from just one person. How long will it be before some of our treasured plants are unobtainable because someone ate a poisonous berry, or the mental health of a timid lady was affected when she saw one of the (yes, scary!) exotic cacti which resembles a human being? Many flowers and shrubs have a degree of toxicity, especially Aconitum. Others can affect skin and eyes, so always wash your hands after handling them and wear gloves if convenient. Caution must be taken of course when little children are in the garden unsupervised, but refusing to grow flowers such as a few offenders including Peonies, Agapanthus, Echium and Rosemary is not an option and our freedom must be maintained. But please don't be terrified! Gardeners have a habit of living long lives and toxins would not affect everybody. Just be sensible and don't eat berries, leaves or flowers unless you know they are edible, and never rub your eyes after handling plants.

Enjoy your July garden!

Will.

Red letter days in July 2025

St Thomas is celebrated on the 3rd (John 20 24-29), St Mary Magdalene on the 27th (John 20 1-2 11-18) and James the Apostle on the 25th (Matthew 20 20-28).

Here we are in the second half of the year. We have had beautiful sun and long awaited rain. I often think that we are obsessed by weather. We want to know what is coming so that we can prepare for it. Is it the same with coming to the end of our days, we want to know what is to come? Many years ago I found this: "I love to look in the face of the fire and see the things I would come true, But perhaps, we should soon get tired, of what was to be, if we already knew." Let us wait patiently and accept 'what-ever'.

In the garden there are pigeons. Last year they were nesting in a very high tree but this year there is a nest nearer to my window. I put out seed, the fattest pigeons in the world live here. In Springwatch we saw how wild life manages to keep going. When I saw a baby pigeon, dead, I cried, but in all life there is death. Every day there are accidents, deliberate murder, warfare and the saddest thing is that young children are killing each other. When I was a child there was HELL, so you were constantly reminded that was where you would go if you broke any of the 10 Commandments. At primary School I remember drawing Heaven at the Top, Earth in the Middle and Hell below.

I am told that half the people in prison are dyslexic. Schools have failed to pick this up. As a family we have one grandson who was lucky enough to be diagnosed in primary school. He was interested in cars and now is married with a son and runs his own car business.

No doubt, like me, you find some days seem full of problems and some glide along smoothly. Sunday is a good day. Going to Church wears me out and I feel justified in falling asleep in the afternoon.

Usually there are one or two hymns that are running through my mind that can keep me closer to 'God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.' In 1985 I wrote a prayer leaflet for the Mothers Union. In it I mentioned the need for rule in our lives. In 2012 we were being asked to bring rule into our lives.

On July 11th we celebrate St Benedict who lived around 550. His rule contained Obedience, Labour and Prayer.

Prayer:

Lord help us to work with you, to give you time to work in us. May we be able to say 'Not I but Christ within me'.

Hilda Walter

Mothers' Union – Kledh Kernow Branch

As I sit down to write this article our branch has not yet held its monthly meeting. I am hoping that the fine weather we enjoyed in May will return for our fundraising Cream Tea on June 18th, raising funds for our Diocesan projects supporting children and young people throughout Cornwall.

This is a good opportunity to thank Sandy for the MU flower arrangement for the St Andrew's flower festival. The theme was Kings and Queens and Sandy filled the Lady Chapel with a depiction of carnival queens, including a maypole surrounded with beautiful flowers, and information about MU and our new patron Sophie the Duchess of Edinburgh.

Diary Dates:

July 24th MU Quiet Day at St Endellion's Church and Hall, 10.30am to 3.30am, led by MU Chaplain, Rev Niki Farr. Tea and coffee will be provided. Please bring a packed lunch. All are welcome to attend.
