January 2026

The Adoration of the Magi

Albrecht Durer

Uffizi, Florence

Dear friends,

A very Happy New Year to all.

As I write this on New Year's Eve it is good to have time to sit and reflect. No ice and snow this year at Christmas, which certainly makes life easier – though some cold days are forecast now.

It was a delight to see so many people at our services this year. All the Carol Services were well attended and the Benefice Christingle service at Lyddington on Christmas Eve was a record breaker, both in attendance and the amount sent to The Children's Society.

After all the joy of Christmas, we are now into a New Year; A blank sheet opening up before us. Of course, we will already have some plans, both personal and as a community. I shall retire at the end of April and that brings changes and challenges, both for me and for these parishes.

As we enter a New Year, it is usual to make resolutions and to express our hopes for the coming year; For peace, justice, relief of poverty and want for instance, as well as our own desires and aspirations. As always, it is the individuals behind the headlines who need our prayer and help. In truth, we don't know exactly what the coming year holds for any of us but let us meet whatever it brings with faith, generosity and thanksgiving.

May you know God's blessing upon you, your homes, families and loved ones near or far, throughout this New Year and for ever more.

Jane

Can we follow Christ boldly?

As we step into 2026 together, I find myself filled with a deep and genuine hope for the year ahead. The season from January through Epiphany is an annual nudge to step into the light that Christ shines upon the world, this brilliant light that does not ignore the shadows, yet refuses to be overcome by them. Many will be familiar with the collects and prayers of Epiphany, of revelation, calling, and courage. They ask us not only to remember the star that guided the Magi but to look for the light that guides us now.

I wonder what might it mean, in this season, to follow Christ boldly? Perhaps it begins with the quiet conviction that hope is not naïve but instead necessary. It may look like choosing generosity even when the demands around us feel a lot and our resources thin. It may sound like the steady, gentle words we offer when our communities are carrying more than they let on. It might involve stepping beyond what feels safe and comfortable to bless and encourage what feels new.

Across our diocese, I delight in signs of Christ's light: communities praying faithfully, clergy leading with compassion, and disciples of all ages and stages of life and Christian journey offering their gifts with humility and joy. As we move toward 2026, may we boldly believe that God is not done with us, far from it, that a fuller, braver discipleship and relationship with God is possible for each of us.

My prayer is that, in this Epiphany season, Christ will reveal again the paths we are called to walk and grant us the courage to walk them with hope. Amen.

Gardeners Corner

DECEMBER/ JANUARY 2025/2026

BY

ALISTAIR PEAK

As Winter progresses, there may be still plenty to do in the garden. It's also a good time to recoup our bodies and think of this time as a reflective season too.

With all the leaves down now, they should have been cleared away from your paths and lawns making it safe to move about and ensuring the lawn doesn't get killed off by piles of leaves. It's fine to have a few leaves on your borders but remember not to have them too deep as it can kill plants, especially herbaceous if left on a long time; a thin layer of leaves will help the borders to keep a little warmer too.

If you have a Greenhouse which is in use and you are heating, ensure you check that the heaters are working proficiently and safely. If you are able try and insulate with bubble wrap or place fleece over the plants if it gets very cold; why not try and move all the plants to one area within the Greenhouse and make the area that you need to heat into a smaller area.

Keep watering in the greenhouse to a minimum as they are not likely to dry out as often. Try and water in the morning so it's got all day to dry up; avoid watering on the leaves as this can lead to Botrytis, which is a mould on the leaves.

If you have used some form of protection for your outdoor plants, particularly on pot plants, check from time to time that they are still secure. All pots are lifted off the ground with feet to ensure good drainage over the winter months and prevent them getting waterlogged.

Sometimes it can be hard to summon up the energy to go out into the garden over the winter months; I encourage you do this as regular as possible, from daily to even weekly you will be amazed what is growing, flowering or even showing lovely coloured bark to just the silhouette of the stems and branches with winter sun on it.

There are many plants that flower over the winter months; they often have small flowers but the scent they produce can pack a strong punch. One I can recommend will flower from November till March with white/pink flowers even though it's deciduous; place in a spot where you are likely to walk past - it's called Viburnum Bodnantense Dawn, tolerates most locations but avoid a very wet site.

Most people find Visiting Garden centres/ Nurseries is easily done from Spring to Autumn, I often suggest to people to visit once a month throughout the year and buy a plant; in time you will have plants in your garden that are either flowering or showing off some form of interest year round.

House plants are certainly becoming more popular nowadays, adding greenery and flowers indoors. If you have them check them regularly as central heating can dry them out particularly if you have pots on the floor with underfloor heating. Avoiding leaving them behind curtains on windowsills as there is often a cold space here. Place on a tray of gravel which helps to keep a good humidity; avoid over watering; a light spray with a misting bottle from time to time will help to keep the leaves fresh.

When days are inclement and it's not easy to be outside, try and make the most of this time checking over you garages/ sheds for your horticulture sundries; how are your hand tools - do they need a good clean, fixing or fixing up on the walls or better storage?

With it being milder over the Autumn/ early winter the lawns have needed more mowing which can be done all year if it's not waterlogged or frosted. Once you stop mowing arrange for your machinery to be serviced and not to leave it till next spring, there will be a rush!!!

Alistair Tip,

It only leaves me to wish you a Happy, Healthy and peaceful Christmas and New Year, looking forward to 2026 in our gardens with a drop more water in the summer!

Afterwards a warm welcome and lovely roaring fire was very much appreciated at the home of Lin and Ian Saunders who provided delicious wine, sausage rolls and mince pies. ## SEATON and THORPE

After the great success of the first Seaton Sound Bath last year, the second one will take place in the village hall at 2.30pm on 25 January. Sound baths include a variety of instruments to slow down your brainwaves and the vibration can help with aches and pains and also shift energy in the body. Bring anything you to make yourselves comfortable as you will be spending an hour on the floor - think yoga mat, sleeping bag, blankets, duvets, fluffy socks! It's good to arrive 10-15 minutes early and you may want to bring some water to drink at the end. For more information and to book a place for £18 contact Jo Everson on 07903 047023.

At the Carol Service the draw was made for the bottle of champagne for members of the Churchyard Maintenance Club. This was won by Michael Lines.

The Advent Feast, held on Saturday November 29th, raised approximately £1240 towards church funds. A delicious meal and wine was provided by the PCC. It was a very happy and enjoyable evening. Thank you to all who provided the food and drink and to all who supported most generously.

The annual beautiful Advent Service of readings and carols was held at Seaton church on Advent Sunday, November 30th. This year we were joined by The High Sheriff of Rutland Col Richard Chesterfield who read a lesson and by his chaplain The Venerable John Ellis CB RAF (Retired) who gave an Advent Reflection. Refreshments were provided after the service. The collection of £377 was sent to the Leprosy Mission.

The collection from the Christmas Day service raised £275 for Crisis at Christmas.
