

All Saints Edingthorpe

Conservation Area Gallery

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Bluebells and Buttercups

Spring 2025

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Spring 2025

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

A welcoming doorway.

Spring 2025

Work in progress to remove the fallen tree.

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Spring 2025

Daffodils in spring sunshine.

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Spring into Summer 2025

Conservation area wildflowers in bloom.

Pignut and buttercups.

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Summer 2025

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Summer 2025

Red Tail Bumblebee
(Bombus lapidarius)
on Ragwort

Speckled Bush Cricket
(Leptophyes punctatissima)

Gatekeeper (Pyronia Tithonus) on Bramble

Speckled Bush Cricket

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Before

Cutting

Grass Cutting August 2025

After

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Grass Raking August 2025

The North East Norfolk Conservation Volunteers with the All Saints Churchyard Officer

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Grass Raking August 2025

Grass raking in progress.

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Autumn sunshine

Autumn 2025

Parasol (Macrolepiota procera)

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Winter 2026

Church in the snow. ©Caroline Engledow

Conservation area in the snow.

All Saints Edingthorpe – Conservation Area

Winter 2026

The crab apple in the NW corner of the churchyard is providing welcome food to birds. There were 5 blackbirds and a robin feeding there just before this photograph was taken.