Disciples

Stand up, Stand up for Jesus, Ye soldiers of the Cross

1858 George Duffield 1818-1888

A disciple is one who is a pupil or dedicated follower of a leader, preacher or philosopher. They accept the teachings of their leader and actively spread them. More specifically the term Disciple is used to describe the twelve who were chosen by Jesus to be His closest followers. [Luke 6: 12-16] The Twelve are also known as Apostles, derived from the Greek apóstolos meaning a messenger or envoy. Their task after the events of Pentecost was to spread the Good News about Jesus.

Throughout his ministry of Baptism, John the Baptist had denied being the Messiah and responded to the envoys of the religious leaders that he was "the voice of one calling in the wilderness, 'Make straight the way for the Lord'" [John 1: 23; Isaiah 40: 3]. John had built up a group of disciples who supported the practice of Baptism a symbol of repentance and echoed John's simple way of life. John's influence was to continue as, some years after the foundation of the early Church, St Paul found a group of twelve believers who had only received John's Baptism. [Acts 19: 1-7].

On one occasion, John was with two of his disciples when Jesus passed by. John commented "Look, the Lamb of God" [John 1: 35]. The two disciples left John and began to walk after Jesus. On seeing them, Jesus asked what they wanted. In what was a tame answer, they asked where Jesus was staying. Jesus took them there and they spent much of the day with Him. One of these disciples was Andrew, who's first task was to find his brother, Simon and tell him that they had found the Messiah and brought Simon to Jesus. [John 1: 41-42]. Jesus re-named Simon as Peter. Both Peter and Andrew became Disciples of Jesus and were numbered in the Twelve.

How do we measure up to the definition of a disciple?
