Lent: stepping back or stepping up?

Giving things up for Lent is a longstanding approach to the season that leads to Holy Week, lately become overwhelmed by the foil wrapped dazzle of festive Easter treats. However, the Lenten practice of stepping back from an activity, attitude, or behaviour, that perhaps offers both comfort and clouds our vision, is valuable in allowing us to discern and make space for fresh opportunities, both individually and collectively.

This year's Lent Course, Growing Good, will require giving up a little of our time over two months, but is designed to provide stimulation, encouragement and tools which will enable us to develop ourselves, our churches and our neighbourhoods so that we can be stronger, more caring communities and individuals.

The course, hosted by Chew Magna Parish Church, is divided into six sessions:

Session 1: Saturday 21 February, 9.30am-12.00noon.

Presence – being an active, visible presence in your community.

Exploring how we can be present and connected in our communities – physically, relationally, in person and online.

Session 2: Wednesday, 4 March, 7.00pm – 9.30pm.

Perseverance – exploring the value of investing in communities.

Reflecting on the challenges of committing time and energy, especially when growth appears to be slow, while celebrating the fruit of persistent engagement.

Session 3: Wednesday, 11 March, 7.00pm – 9.30pm.

Hospitality – building a culture of giving and receiving.

Discovering the value of offering a welcome that is all encompassing, as demonstrated by Jesus, along with the importance of building two way relationships.

Session 4: Wednesday, 18 March, 7.00pm – 9.30pm.

Adaptability – being open to challenge and change.

Acknowledging where we may need to change and adapt to allow everyone to flourish, discussing the cost and value of being open to change while looking at practical steps for becoming more inclusive.

Session 5: Wednesday, 25 March, 7.00pm – 9.30pm.

Participation – social action and community engagement.

Considering how social action can provide an entry point for people into the life of the church and sharing our own experiences of growing in faith.

Session 6: Saturday 18 April, 9.30am – 12.00 noon.

Next Steps – what have we learned, where are we going?

Building on what we have learnt together and recognising what practical steps we can take to see some of these ideas flourish.

This is a course designed to encourage us perceive how, with our modest resources, we can be part of God's work transforming people and places. One inspiring example, from the parish of Goathurst, further south in our Diocese, can be seen here:

As the film shows, Growing Good, is down to earth, practical and reflective. We invite you to join us in mapping a positive and engaged future for our local church communities.
