“The Times they are a-changing”

(Bob Dylan; 1964)

I am writing this at the beginning of August which was, traditionally the beginning of the harvest season. The first of August is still listed in the Book of Common Prayer as Lammas Day. This was the day that the first fruits of the harvest were brought to churches to celebrate the beginning of the season of harvest.

These days I think that the beginning of harvest is marked by the loads of new straw travelling from the corn growing farms on the chalk of Salisbury Plain and beyond to the dairy and beef farms in the South and West of England. This year this started at least two weeks ago, and the winter barley was all harvested and in store before the first of August.

Likewise, in this September magazine/newsletter, we look forward to the harvest services and meals which come at the end of the month, and continue until mid-October. This no longer marks the end of the harvest season, and we shall see farmers and growers gathering in crops through October and in to November. At the end of my years as a dairy farmer, I can well remember being told that the best maize silage was made after the first frosts.

So, what is the result of these changes of season. The first is worry for our farmers and growers, that there will not be enough fodder to last their stock through a long winter. The hot, dry early summer has resulted in an extreme shortage of grass so that second crops of silage and hay are very light, or even non-existent. Livestock farmers are already feeding crops that were stored early in the summer for use in the winter months to animals that are short of fresh grass. So, spare a thought and a prayer for farmers at this time.

It is absolutely right that we should be concerned about what human actions are doing to affect our planet and the food and other produce that we need to exist. Are we, really, acting in the best interests of every living thing. Climate change has really focused many minds on the effect of human action on the world of our day, and this should concern us.

Jesus taught us not to worry about what we will eat or drink or wear. (Matthew ch6, v25-34)

But how can we see what is happening to the seasons and how they are changing and not be concerned about food supply? How do we need to act to protect what we have now? How will the world change, and the seasons evolve, because of what we do today?

I do not have any of the answers to these questions, but I do know that it is important that we ask them before things change out of our control. Some will say that this is already happening!!

From the Bishop

Then God said, 'Let us make humankind in our image, according to our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the wild animals of the earth, and over every creeping thing that creeps upon the earth.' (Genesis 1: 26).

These words come from the account of creation found in Genesis Chapter 1. I'm often asked about this text. Is it true? How do I square its words with my understanding of science? Do I believe this is how the world was made?

I don't think Genesis 1 is a literal account, a description offered in the style of a David Attenborough documentary. Rather I suggest that this account is so stuffed with truth that it's hard for us to deal with. Truth that's not about factual deception but that's about meaning, purpose and value. Genesis 1 asks 'How do we understand the world?' and 'How should we live in it?'

Take for example the words 'have dominion' to be found in Genesis 1:26 given above. These words, an interpretation of the Hebrew word radah, have been understood very differently.

Some would say that 'have dominion', radah, has been understood as harsh domination, treading down, and using raw force; a justification for treating the non-human world as an expendable resource for human consumption that has led to our destruction of so much of the natural world around us.

Others suggest that the true meaning of radah is service and care. This sees 'have dominion' as a call not to crush, but to protect, nurture, and provide justice. This view sees humankind invited to act as deputies for God, called to cultivate the earth responsibly while preserving its health and flourishing.

Arguments about the interpretation of a Hebrew word may seem specialist. But how we read one of the most important passages of the Bible can shape our whole world view. Service and care or domination and destruction? These differing ideas lie at the very heart of the arguments we have about how humankind should treat our earthly home that God has gifted us. What steps will we take, however small, to protect it?

✠ Michael Beasley,
Bishop of Bath & Wells

Called to care for God's earth

INTERVIEW - Caring for creation together

Sara Harbron, Climate Justice & Environment Adviser for Bath and Wells, explains why caring for creation is central to our Christian faith.

Why does caring for creation matter?

Because creation is God's world, and we are called to look after it. We are part of nature, not separate from it, and depend on a healthy climate and ecosystems for food, clean water, clean air and wellbeing.

Why is it important that care for creation is our Fifth Mark of Mission?

We cannot share God's love without caring for the world and the people who live in it. It is central to mission and connects with all the others. People need safety and stability to respond to God's kingdom.

What would you say to someone overwhelmed by the enormity of the challenge?

Start with something that already matters to you: your garden, local wildlife, food, water quality, or church building. You don't have to do everything at once. The aim is progress, not perfection.

What are the new national resources agreed by General Synod?

Hope for All Creation is a wonderfully clear resource for understanding our Christian and human imperative to care for creation. It shows how everyone can get involved, that it does not have to be overwhelming, and that every small action can make a difference.

How important is the new annual Festival of Creation in Christ?

Having one specific day to look at the challenges we face and how we can approach them positively, with clear direction, is important. It will support ongoing creation care in our diocese and around the world.

What does Flourish House's Gold Eco Church award show?

It shows change is possible when people work together. Flourish House has advantages as a modern building, but the award reflects the commitment and dedication of our diocese and, I hope, inspires us all to keep going.

The Diocese of Bath and Wells has become the first in the country to receive a Gold Eco Church award for its diocesan offices. Eco Church is a programme run by A Rocha UK to equip churches to care for creation.

Bishop Michael said, "In a summer when we have seen wildfires spread across the UK and Europe and heard of the struggles farmers are having as they try to produce the food we all need, I was delighted to learn that we have been awarded a Gold Eco Church award for our diocesan offices. I hope it is an encouragement for us all as we do what we can to care for creation."

There will be no Luncheon Club in August and September.

GALHAMPTON VILLAGE HALL AGM

We will be holding our AGM on Tuesday 15th September. Doors will open at 7.00pm for a welcome drink and nibbles with the meeting starting at 7.30pm.

Sadly, our treasurer will be standing down at the AGM, and we will need to fill this role. The treasurer is an important part of the committee, their job includes looking after the village hall's day-to-day finances, keeping our financial records up to date, preparing and delivering a report at committee meeting and arranging floats for our events. The present treasurer will be available to help and assist with the handover.

We are also looking for a new chairperson. Being a CIO (charitable incorporated organization) means we can run without a chairperson, but it is easier with a person taking the lead and moving everything forward. If you would like more information please email Fiona.hooper@galhampton.com or ring 07534 919195 (evenings).

NORTH CADBURY & DISTRICT GARDENING CLUB

We've just had a very interesting tour of the Montgomery Cheesery and been talked through the process of milk being converted to award winning cheeses. In spite of the almost simultaneous solar eclipse, which we also experienced together, it was a most popular soiree, with drinks and nibbles in the hall afterwards. We raised a glass to Peter our treasurer who so sadly died recently.

On September 16th at 7.00pm Saskia Marjoram will be talking on Flower Remedies which she makes, sells and prescribes from her Wincanton shop. She will be bringing a range of products which will be available to buy. These remedies are used to treat mental and physical health.

Sunflower competition - also on the evening of the 16th September. Please bring your sunflowers with you if logistically possible! Otherwise a photo with a tape measure alongside. Cut sunflowers are also welcome so we can all enjoy seeing them.

We generally meet at North Cadbury Village Hall on the 3rd Wednesday of the month at 6.30 for teas before the 7.00pm talk.
