FROM THE EDITOR

MORE GOOD NEWS – and all from Great Elm! As you will see Richard King, who lives there, has been licensed to act as lay reader for the Mells group. As he says he's not taking on the role of vicar but at least he's going to be taking services and doing some of the tasks a vicar would be doing. Next, Jim Duffus, who is also a resident and, as many of you will remember, used to edit this magazine, is going to be a regular contributor to it, giving plenty of advice to gardeners (especially those who, like me, don't know a hoe from a herb!).

Our front cover features yet another Elm homeowner Lynn Baxter whose book, Crimson Joy, was launched at Frome's Hunting Raven bookshop in September (full story on page 16) and, of course, Elmite (is that the right word?) Gemma Brooking is taking over the 5Alive admin, as I told you last month.

Is there something in the air there that fires people up? Wish it would spread to this end of Buckland Dinham!

Peter

A NOTE FROM RICHARD KING

BY THE TIME YOU read this I will have been licensed by the Bishop of Bath and Wells to act as 'lay reader' in the Church of England Benefice of Mells with Vobster, with Chantry, Elm and Whatley.

Sorry for this rather pompous and pedantic church jargon!

What does it mean? Well, the Benefice of Mells etc. is the parishes of Mells, Great Elm, Whatley and Chantry, which the Church of England has grouped together to provide an area of ministry for one vicar. A 'lay reader' is someone who lives in the area and is appointed to assist the vicar in their ministry, by leading church services, giving talks in the services, occasionally taking funerals and helping with other activities that enable people to feel and become members of the church and grow in faith. As we currently don't have a vicar (no-one suitable has so far been willing to apply for the position!) I'll supplement the work of the retired priests who currently take many of the services in the village churches.

What doesn't it mean? I'm not the 'new vicar' and won't be living in the rectory in Mells! Only an ordained person can do certain things – conducting weddings or baptisms or administering holy communion – and these aren't within my remit.

So how do I see my role? I'd like people who live in this area to feel their parish church belongs to them – in the sense that they're always welcome there – and also to feel they belong to the church community and are part of it. I'm a little unusual in that I came to believe church teaching before I became a member of a church. I think for many people this is the other way round. When they come to church or attend church events they begin to feel they belong in that community and this often happens before they believe the things they're invited to say during a church service. So, you don't have to hold particular beliefs before you can belong to the church community. Once you belong you can explore the lifelong journey of Christian spirituality and gradually come to a deeper understanding of yourself and of God. My role is to encourage people in this.

Richard King

Editor's note: Richard lives in Great Elm. He worked as a barrister for many years before becoming chief executive of a charity that focuses on conflict resolution in Africa. He finished his career as legal adviser to Bible Society, retiring at the end of last year. He will have been licensed as a 'lay reader' on October 3rd, having completed a part-time two-year training course.

ROUND AND ABOUT

GROWING BETTER VEGETABLES

by Jim Duffus

FOR THOSE OF YOU who already grow your own vegetables or perhaps are considering turning a little patch of flower garden into a veg plot, I hope this new monthly column might spur you on.

Since retiring - gosh, twenty years ago now! - I've been dabbling in vegetable growing and have certainly picked up a few ideas along the way. If Peter allows me the space, I intend to share monthly contributions here, and I would welcome any feedback or questions from readers.

You might be thinking about our recent dry spell and how it has affected growing conditions. For me, the main consideration is always whether to water or not. My philosophy is that plants should search for their own water, which means encouraging their roots to go down deep. Giving a little water frequently is the worst thing you can do; if you are going to water, give the ground a proper, thorough drenching.

I am also a firm believer in "no-dig" gardening. Why? It's supposed to be excellent for soil life, but if I'm being completely honest, my biggest reason is that it saves my back! If you're curious, a quick search online for "no-dig gardening" will give you plenty of great suggestions to get started.

So, what has done well for me this year? Beetroot is a particular favourite of mine. Getting them started in the ground can be a problem, so I sow the seeds in little fibre plug containers first and plant them out when they are about an inch high.

This way, you completely bypass the slugs and birds. I only watered them about twice this summer, but gave them a heavy drenching each time, and the crop has been fantastic.

Another favourite is sweetcorn.

This year I tried an experiment and grew two varieties—an early one and a later one. The early variety did brilliantly, but the later one unfortunately struggled; the cobs failed to swell up, likely due to the intense heat and dry conditions.

I do have plenty of other favourite vegetables in my garden, but I think I'll leave those until next month when I should be cropping. If there's one silver lining to this hot, dry weather, it's that weeding has been minimal!

Cheers,

Jim

LOCAL INITIATIVE AIMS TO HELP HOUSEHOLDS SAVE ON HEATING OIL

WITH THE COST OF HEATING remaining a concern for many rural households, a local initiative, Oil4Homes, continues to help residents in villages in the Bath and Mendip area save money on heating oil. Many homes in our area rely on heating oil, yet prices can vary considerably depending on when and how oil is purchased, particularly with the current crisis in the Middle East. Oil4Homes brings local households together so larger, combined orders can be negotiated with trusted local suppliers, helping members access competitive prices while continuing to receive deliveries directly from established fuel companies. The idea is simple: by buying together, communities can often achieve better value than individual households ordering separately. Oil4Homes is based locally and operates with rural communities in mind. Membership is free, with no obligation to purchase. Members simply register their interest and will be invited to participate whenever a buying round is organised in their area. If the negotiated price is right, they can choose to order. If not, there is no obligation to proceed. As well as helping households reduce heating costs, buying collectively can also improve delivery efficiency by grouping orders within local villages. If your home is heated by oil and you would like to hear about future buying rounds, simply register your interest free of charge at www.oil4homes.co.uk. Together, local households can achieve better prices while supporting trusted local suppliers.

BUCKLAND DINHAM

CHURCH NEWS

The Sunday Church Services will be as per rota, but please make a note of the United Benefice Harvest Supper on October 9th 7.00 p.m. at St. Lawrence Church, Rode. Tickets £10 available from Sally Pickett 07885 877694.

Harvest Festival Service in St. Michael's is on Sunday October 11th at 6.00 p.m. This will be followed by refreshments and an auction of the produce. We hope to have a full church for this lovely service, a good time for us all to give thanks for the farmers who are having such a difficult time. Donations of fruit, vegetables and tinned goods may be left in the church or cakes, pies and bread brought on the evening.

Coffee Morning.

The next coffee morning will be on Saturday October 17th, 10.00am – 12.00 This will be a chance to talk about the “hopefully” success of the Harvest Festival and the beginning of the work to restore the Lych Gate

Churchyard Tidy Up

And a big ‘thank ‘you’ to all the volunteers who spent time tidying up the churchyard. There’s still more to do so Sunday October 11th has been set aside to tackle it. Be there at 9.00am if you want to join the team. Thanks especially to Corinne King who organised it – and provided drinks and cakes afterwards. Many thanks Corinne!

VILLAGE NEWS

Buckland Buddies meet in the Village Hall on Tuesday October 6th at 7.15 for a chance to meet up and “chat”. Would someone new like to join us, and as we have no speaker this month it is ideal time to just come along and introduce yourself. You can be sure of a warm welcome.

Craft day on Saturday 31st October 10. 00am – 2.00pm. This is open to all, if you are one of the people who say “I do not do craft” just come along to see what the others are doing and have a cup of coffee or tea.

CHANTRY

CHANTRY CHURCH

Our Harvest Festival Service on Sunday September 13th was fairly well attended due to quite a few parishioners being on holiday but was enjoyed by those who came.

The service was followed by a bring and share lunch which was enjoyed by us all with so much and such a great variety of food that I am sure no-one went home hungry. The windows were decorated with a vast variety of tinned and dried food which was delivered by Sally to Frome food bank. They were very pleased to receive so much and will send a letter of thanks to be posted in the church porch. Thank you all for your donations and all the help from the village, it makes one proud to belong to Chantry as we always come up trumps when needed. Please pray for Vall and her family, as she is very ill.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 31ST BRAM STOKER'S "DRACULA"

After the success of his one-man adaptations of Charles Dickens' novels: Oliver Twist, A Christmas Carol, Great Expectations and David Copperfield, James Hornsby is delighted to present his own spine-chilling adaptation of Bram Stoker's classic gothic-horror novel.....DRACULA..... In this one-man play, James thrillingly brings to life a cast of well-known characters including: Jonathan Harker, his beautiful fiancée Mina, Professor Abraham Van Helsing, the crazed insect-eating Renfield and of course, The Demonic Transylvanian Count.....

What better way to celebrate Halloween! James Hornsby is a captivating performer and will have you enthralled, especially in the Victorian setting of Holy Trinity.

Dracula will be performed at Holy Trinity Church, Chantry at 7.00pm. The bar will open at 6:30pm.

The performance is not suitable for children under 12.

LYNN BAXTER LAUNCHES FIRST BOOK

As you will have seen our front cover photo this month features Great Elm's Lynn Baxter whose book, Crimson Joy, has just been given a crowded launch at Frome's Hunting Raven bookshop. The book is an intriguing story of Mae who ends – at least she hopes she does – a ten-year break from Damien the first love of her life. It does not, sadly, go according to plan and she experiences many changes in her life until ... no, I'm not going to give the game away!

The book has been very well received including by award winning author Frances Liardet who describes it as "utterly delightful."

Lynn lives in Great Elm with husband Brian whose paintings we have used on the front cover of 5Alive from time to time. Her book is her first, but she is probably best known for her sculpture work. It costs £12.99 and it's available from Hunting Raven.

HIGHWAY AND FOOTPATH ISSUES:

Speeding vehicles in Vobster: Cllr Seviour to contact Sara Davis, Traffic Engineer and Clerk to contact Anna Sabine MP.

There was a serious accident by the Old Post Office, Vobster recently.

Condition of Selwood Street: The road condition is very poor. A water main appears to have burst by The Talbot today and Bristol Water has been contacted. The works to repair the main may result in an improvement to some of the road surface.

Vehicles parking long term in the Recreation Ground and Fairview:

The owner of the car has been approached several times.

Somerset Council has looked at the van but have referred it to the police due to having two number plates on it, one of which shows that the vehicle is taxed and MOT'd, the other is unrecognised.

The Audi in Fairview is being worked on and is being monitored.

Signage is now ready to put up at the Recreation Ground to deter long term parking.

PLANNING MATTERS

Lime Kiln site: Cllr Asquith has spoken to Mr Martin who has indicated that he is looking at putting approximately 20 touring caravan pitches at the top of the site with landscaping and industrial units at the lower end. There are many environmental hurdles to overcome before any development of the site can begin.

CORRESPONDENCE:

Heritage at Risk register: The only site on the register for Mells is the Fussell's site which was agreed to be the only site in the area.

ITEMS TO REPORT / ITEMS FOR NEXT AGENDA

Streetlight out in Vobster: This has been reported twice. Cllr Seviour will Monitor.

MACMILLAN COFFEE MORNING

Saturday October 10th 10.00am-12.00

HARVEST SERVICE AND SUPPER

Sunday October 18th

Church Harvest Festival service at 5.00pm followed by Harvest Supper, provided by Friends of Whatley (so no need to bring sharing plates) POP UP BAR. This will be open for Harvest Festival and all other events, but will no longer be open twice monthly. Look out for listings!

As you remember, last year's MacMillan coffee morning was a great success in so many ways. Not only was lots of money raised for this charity but also it was good to see the church buzzing with chat and laughter from people far and wide. The coffee ladies were kept very busy!

It will be hard to top last year's event, but let's try! There will be home crafted goods to buy along with any wonderful gifts you bring along for the raffle. If you would like to donate a raffle prize, either give it directly to Laura Baber or drop it off in the church porch during the previous week. Most importantly, put the date in your diaries, Saturday, October 10th.

We hope the church will also be full for our Harvest Festival on Sunday 18th. This year the wonderful Friends of Whatley are providing Harvest Supper for us all.

MACMILLAN
CANCER SUPPORT

As always, the church will be beautifully decorated. If you would like to bring something for Fair Frome, bring it along. The pop-up pub will be open, so it will be a true community evening. Bring your best singing voice!

Our two hamlets share a book club, for anyone who enjoys reading and likes to try different books to their usual fare. (I think I am the only person who managed to choose an author whom absolutely no one enjoyed!). We meet in each other's homes, sharing hospitality and lifts, so it really is a good way to get to know neighbours in our integrated communities. The day of the week, book choice and venue change each time, so if you are interested and would like to be on the email list, let Sue Pollock know at suepollock58@yahoo.co.uk

As mentioned earlier, there is now an informal group once a month for people to bring along any sewing/knitting project that they have in progress or help with ongoing crafting for fund raising with all fabric etc provided. The first gathering was delightful - four neighbours in our straggled village stitching away together - (or not, in my case). Seeing the incredible skills of Marion in her complex patchwork was inspirational. On the other hand, I will probably take a bit of mending to the next session, October 17th!

HEIDELBERG PLANS FOR WHATLEY QUARRY

Heidelberg Materials UK is holding three public drop-in events, plus an online event, to set out its proposals to access additional mineral reserves within the existing boundary of Whatley quarry and extend the timeframe for extraction.

The events are being held throughout October across Chantry, Nunney and Mells to provide local people with the opportunity to talk to members of the Whatley team and its specialists, ask questions and provide feedback on the proposals ahead of an application being submitted to Somerset Council.

Whatley quarry has been supplying vital building materials for use in construction for nearly 100 years and supplies limestone aggregate to local markets, as well as national construction projects via its dedicated rail link. Material from the quarry has supported nationally important infrastructure schemes including Hinkley Point C power station and HS2 as well as many local construction projects like resurfacing the B3135 through Cheddar Gorge and in maintaining Somerset's roads.

To make the most of existing limestone reserves, Heidelberg Materials is now seeking permission to extend extraction within the existing quarry boundary as well as the timeframe for quarrying.

This would secure Whatley's long-term future by supporting the continued extraction of permitted but constrained reserves, as well as releasing additional material by reprofiling and deepening sections of the quarry and extending the quarry's end date to 2055.

The public drop-in events are being held on the following dates:

Tuesday October 6th 2026 between 15:00 and 20:30 at:

The Church of the Holy Trinity, Chantry, BA11 3LJ

Thursday October 8th 2026 between 15:00 and 20:30 at:

Nunney Village Hall, Berry Hill, Nunney BA11 4NR

Thursday October 15th 2026 between 15:00 and 20:30 at:

Mells Tithe Barn, Selwood Road, Mells BA11 3PN

The company is also holding an online event on Tuesday October 20th 2026 between 19:00 and 20:00. To register to attend, please visit:
