From the Reverend Keith Johnson

Nunney Rectory

With the changing of the seasons, warm summer days are long past, autumn leaves will soon be like a stunning tablecloth of browns, greens and yellows, covering our beautiful countryside, as we dig out our warm clothes from the back of the wardrobe.

Our harvest celebrations in October were a timely reminder that the God who placed the sun and star in their place provides for all our needs, and now November is upon us.

November is a time to remember. On Sunday 1st November, we celebrate the Christian festival of All Saints Day, and we will be marking this day by hosting an All Souls Memorial service at St Leonard's Church, Marston Bigot at 3pm, to which all are welcome. During the service, the names of those we have loved and lost will be read out, and there will be the opportunity to light a candle in their memory.

The following week we mark Remembrance Sunday on 8th November, with multiple services across our two benefices. As poppy wreaths are laid and the names read out of those who have made the ultimate sacrifice in times of war, we recall with thankful hearts those whose lives, given up in the name of freedom, have secured our tomorrows.

The annual Feast of St Hugh, former Bishop of Lincoln, who was Prior of the first Carthusian monastery in England, is celebrated at Witham Friary Church on Sunday 15th November, with a special service at 11am.

Friends, please join me in giving thanks to God for all those who have gone before us, whose character and memory remain with us, and inspire us as followers of Jesus Christ.

Leigh on Mendip Harvest Supper & Auction

Many thanks to everyone who supported our Harvest celebrations this year by attending the service or the supper, providing flowers for the church and auction, food for the supper, helping with serving, washing up and clearing away or providing those very generous donations of produce for the auction. Special thanks to Caroline Dove for organising the food for the supper, Caroline Palmer for the delicious ham and amazing crumbles, Vicky Higgins for all her help in the kitchen, Denis and Jan Pattison for their brilliant organisation of the bar and our auctioneer, Martin Hemmett from Cooper and Tanner, who kept us entertained while persuading us to part with our cash!

As well as having a delicious supper and lots of fun we have raised an amazing £763 for church funds and we hope you all enjoyed the evening.

Stoke St Michael Harvest Supper & Auction

A superb evening with a lovely atmosphere and enjoyed by everyone.

The Auctioneer, Revd Keith Johnson was complimented for the high prices he made with some adding that they would be happy if he was the auctioneer when selling their items!

Thank you to Erik Price for the donation of a bag of logs for the auction and to Midway Dairies for their donation of cream.

The 100 Square was enjoyed by all especially the winners thank you Graham.

Special thanks to my helpers Barb Gilson, Cicely Middle, Wendy (Barb's sister) and to Sarah and Pete for their help with the washing up.

A grand total of £734.62 was made for church funds.

Letter from Fiona Gibson Bishop of Taunton

A journey with God

One of the most significant places in the UK for me is the Holy Island of Lindisfarne, and the pilgrimages I've made to and from the island walking barefoot over the sands have been holy moments.

Unlike other journeys, pilgrimages are deliberate journeys of transformation. I went on a pilgrimage from Watchet to Stogursey this year with a group of laity and clergy from Quantock Deanery. It had moments of challenge, and moments of joy. We were definitely changed as we travelled. It was a holy time.

In Christian teaching, pilgrimage has long been seen as a form of martyrdom. Not the martyrdom of shedding our blood, but the martyrdom of shedding our preferences, our self-centred desires.

The psalmist wrote, "Blessed are those whose strength is in you, whose hearts are set on a pilgrimage." Those words show a yearning to be with God in his dwelling place, and that's a yearning we can all mirror in our prayers, whether we can physically undertake a pilgrimage or not.

One of the most famous stories of a pilgrimage is, of course, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. I find the closing words of the book among the most moving in literature, as they link our lives in this world to our journey's end with God. "I cannot describe what Christian felt when he came face to face with the King ... I woke too soon. And besides, no one can dream the Unimaginable. I shall have to cross the River myself before I can say exactly what the City of Gold contains. I would not have chosen to wake. But I did. I am awake now. Time to get up, then, I suppose, and continue the journey. I am on a pilgrimage, too, you see. Everyone is."

May God bless you on every step of your pilgrimage, and may you find your rest in him.

Fiona Gibson, Bishop of Taunton

Mendip Live Wires

Members of Mendip LiveWires WI (Womens Institute) enjoyed a fascinating and entertaining evening at their October meeting, when we welcomed Barry Edwards, who gave a marvellous talk on The Early History of Penguin Books.

Barry took us back to 1935, when the first Penguin paperbacks were introduced at the remarkably affordable price of just sixpence (6d.). These inexpensive yet high-quality books revolutionised the publishing world, costing around fourteen times less than hardback books of the day. For the first time, a much wider audience could afford to enjoy books, opening up a world of literature and knowledge to people who might previously have been unable to buy them.

Penguin Books continued to flourish through the difficult years of the Second World War, going on to become a global publishing phenomenon and an iconic name during the 1950s. Their distinctive covers were colour-coded according to subject, making it easy for readers to identify different genres. This simple but effective idea became one of the most recognisable features of the Penguin brand. Barry also explained how Penguin's publishing journey eventually led to the controversial publication of Lady Chatterley's Lover, a landmark in the history of publishing and freedom of expression.

His enthusiasm for the subject was infectious. A dedicated collector, Barry has spent the past twenty years building his collection of Penguin Books published between 1935 and 1960. Of the first 1,500 titles printed, he is missing just 48 – an impressive achievement that speaks volumes about his dedication and passion for collecting!

We thoroughly enjoyed this engaging glimpse into the history of a publishing house that helped make books accessible to so many people. It was a most enjoyable evening, and we are grateful to Barry for sharing his knowledge, enthusiasm and wonderful collection with us.

We are a thriving WI group with members from Leigh on Mendip and other surrounding villages, with wide-ranging ages and interests – meeting on the 2nd Monday of each month in the Memorial Hall. More room, of course, for new members. If you think this could be for you just turn up at 7.15pm or contact Caroline on 07974 025608. Our new e-mail address is mendiplivewires@gmail.com

ARTS & CRAFTS EXHIBITION 2026

The annual Leigh on Mendip Arts & Crafts Exhibition, together with the Art Cafe, was held on 17th and 18th October. It was a time for us to get together whilst viewing the exhibits, perhaps meeting new neighbours, and enjoying the Art Cafe. We hope you liked the famous impressionist images and listening to some relaxing music.

Thank you so much to all those villagers who willingly volunteered their time to making delicious cakes and savouries, helping in the kitchen and assisting on the sales desk to make the Exhibition another great success, not forgetting the many and varied exhibits and everyone who visited.

There are photos of the event on the Leigh on Mendip Website \(Gallery\).

Exploring the 'great tradition' of pilgrimage

For centuries, pilgrims have left home to walk with others, pray and encounter God beyond the walls of the church. Today, people still follow many of those ancient paths, discovering faith, fellowship and the beauty of the natural world along the way.

Pilgrimage is the focus of this year's diocesan Rural Forum. The annual gathering which brings together clergy, lay leaders and others involved in rural ministry from across the diocese, will explore what pilgrimage means today, and how journeying with others can become part of our shared life with God.

Rob Walrond, Rural Affairs Adviser for Bath and Wells said, "We're excited to explore pilgrimage together at this year's Rural Forum and discover how it can enrich the life of our churches and communities. We want to bring people together to share ideas and discover pilgrimage afresh."

Across the diocese, churches and communities are finding ways to make pilgrimage part of their life and worship, whether walking between churches, following routes connected with saints, travelling to places of prayer, or simply making time to walk, pray and notice God along the way.

Rob said, "It is amazing all the new and inventive ways that people are exploring the great tradition of pilgrimage. It can be a wonderful and missional opportunity for churches to connect with their communities and further afield offering hospitality and sharing God's love."

The Rural Forum will offer an opportunity to hear more about pilgrimage, share experiences and consider how it might become part of the life of churches and communities across Bath and Wells.

On the road to Ukraine

A member of St Andrew's Church, Bath is helping send hundreds of solar panels to a church in Ukraine to support people who have been displaced by the war.

Revd Alan Bain, a retired member of clergy, has worked with churches in Ukraine for more than 20 years. He has united with the Bristol based company, SolarSense and Ukraine Focus to send repurposed panels to Svalyava in western Ukraine, where they will help provide power for a church offering accommodation and meals to people affected by the conflict. The panels have been donated to SolarSense by a client replacing their existing panels.

East Mendip Gardening Club

Things are slowing down in the garden come November. Milder areas see their first frost and the days are shortening rapidly. Trees are putting on their autumn displays and winter stems start to come into their own. There's still lots to do in the garden this month, and there are plenty of flowers, vegetables, and fruits that can be sown and planted now for a spring harvest or to crop through winter.

Sow sweet pea seeds in an unheated greenhouse or cold frame for an early display next year.

Try growing perennials such as laurentia, delphinium, verbascum, foxglove and lupins from seed in the greenhouse this month.

Plant up a terracotta pot of hyacinth bulbs for a highly scented and colourful display next spring.

Now's the perfect time to plant hedging!

Plant bare-root roses anytime between now and March. This is a great time to plant a native dog rose hedge or for any planned en masse rose planting.

Sow hardy broad bean 'Aquadulce Claudia' and pea 'Meteor' outdoors for extra early harvests in spring.

Plant autumn planting onion, shallot and garlic sets.

Plant out spring cabbage plants at the beginning of the month.

Plant rhubarb crowns now in well-prepared soil. Add plenty of organic matter, they are hungry feeders!

Plant raspberry plants and blackberries now. Remember to construct a support system before planting.

Lift parsnips after the first frosts, when their flavour will have sweetened.

Stake top-heavy brassica and leafy green plants. Draw up some soil around the base of their stem to prevent wind from rocking the plant and causing damage to the roots.

Remove fallen leaves from around the base of any rose bushes which suffered from blackspot or rust this summer, to reduce the chance of reinfection next year.

Continue to lift dahlia tubers, gladiolus corms and begonias tubers to store dry over the winter months. Remove the dead foliage before storing.

Cut back the yellowing foliage of herbaceous perennial plants, and lift and divide overcrowded clumps to maintain their vigour.

Prune apple and pear trees anytime between now and February.

Don't prune your plum trees now as they will be susceptible to the silver leaf fungus - wait until midsummer.

Continue to clear fallen leaves off the lawn to keep it healthy using a light rake.

Place a scaffold plank on the ground along the main access route into your plot. This allows access but prevent the soil compacting as you walk across it.

Spread well rotted farm manure across the surface of your vegetable beds to rot down over winter.

Install solar lights in the greenhouse so you can still get out there on dark winter evenings to check your plants.

Cut a few stems of holly with berries for making Christmas garlands. It's early, but now's the time to do it before the birds eat all the berries. Stand them in a bucket of water in a sheltered spot where birds can't take them.

Burkina Faso

The landlocked West African country of Burkina Faso was previously known as the Republic of Upper Volta until 1984, named by the French colonial administration after the Volta River. The new name combines local languages, translating to the “Land of Upright People”. An Islamist insurgency began spilling over from neighbouring Mali around 2015 and escalated into a full-scale domestic crisis. The two main Islamist groups operating in Burkina Faso are the Islamic State in the Greater Sahara (ISGS) and Jama’at Nusrat al-Islam wal-Muslimin (JNIM). A military government has led Burkina Faso since a coup in 2022.

Rural areas ruled by Islamist extremists are where Christians are most vulnerable to attack. Burkina Faso is ranked at number 16 on Open Doors’ 2026 World Watch List of the most dangerous countries to be a Christian. There are around six million Christians in the country, which represents about 25% of the population. Since last year, violence has increased as has pressure on church life. Believers also face deepening poverty and a worsening human rights crisis.

Open Doors provides faith-based trauma counselling and emergency support to Christians and displaced communities affected by violent extremist attacks in Burkina Faso.

Please pray for Burkina Faso – for stability, for help for displaced Christians, and for the aid agencies’ partners as they care for these believers.
