November 2026

Rachel writes . . .

In the middle of October the clergy of Derby Diocese gathered at the Hayes Conference Centre in Swanwick for our annual Clergy Conference. Every year we have a guest speaker who gives us a series of talks about a book of the Bible. In 2025 the speaker's focus was St Matthew's Gospel, and this year we listened to talks about the book of Ruth in the Old Testament. It's one of the shortest books in the Bible, and has only 4 chapters.

The speaker focused on the examples of generosity (or absence of it) in the story. In chapter one we read the story of Naomi, who travelled to Moab with her husband and two sons. There her sons both marry Moabite women, but her husband and both sons die, and Naomi decides to return to Bethlehem. She releases her daughters-in-law from their obligations. One (Orpah) returns to her parents, the other, Ruth, declares that she will stay with Naomi. This chapter includes the passage people are most familiar with, which is sometimes read at weddings. Verse 16 includes these words:

Where you go, I will go;
where you lodge, I will lodge;
your people shall be my people,
and your God my God.

Naomi and Ruth return to Bethlehem; Naomi is bitter because of what she perceives God has done to her life. Ruth tries to support them both by gleaning wheat along the edges of the fields where the harvest is taking place. It is there she is noticed by a relative of Naomi, called Boaz, who gives her permission to gather more grain. The book ends with Boaz marrying Ruth; she bears him a son, a grandson for Naomi. The genealogy at the end of the chapter tells us that:

They named him Obed; he became the father of Jesse, the father of David.

And so the woman who had thought herself very badly treated by God becomes the grandmother to the boy, Obed, who will be the grandfather of King David, and St Matthew's Gospel opens with the genealogy of Jesus, where we find the same names, to demonstrate that Jesus is born of the line of David. Ultimately, Naomi is blessed, but certainly suffers a great deal in her life.

The speaker at Clergy Conference challenged us to think about God's generosity in our own lives. Sometimes we see God's amazing gifts to us in our churches, when things are going well, numbers are growing and donations are increasing, but, just like Naomi, we might experience times of scarcity, times when it is hard to see evidence of God's generosity. Is God still King when things run out? That is how she challenged us.

Of course, you know I am going to say that he is, but in those times we can find ourselves struggling to pray, wondering what we are supposed to be doing. Ironically, it is sometimes when we look back on these times that we see God's plan for our life, how the timing worked out exactly as it should. But that doesn't mean that those times weren't really hard.

In November we spend valuable time remembering loss - at All Souls' we think about our loved ones whom we see no longer, and on Remembrance Sunday we gather to hear the names of those who gave their lives so we can live in peace. They are challenging times, as we face absence - but they also give us space to remember the blessings that people have been in our lives.

Blessings,

Rachel CJN

HARVEST AT ST. JOHNS

We celebrated harvest at Hazelwood on the 4th October with a service led by the Revd Rachel. Harvest hymns were sung and the gifts offered were later taken by Richard and Sue to the Belper Food Bank. Thank you Richard and Sue. Hazelwood 'Flower Ladies' had been hard at work decorating the church and it looked wonderful. After the service refreshments of cakes and coffee were served and time was spent chatting and admiring the decorations.

A big thank you goes to all who contributed to make our Harvest Celebrations a success and to those who spent time arranging flowers, donations given and to all of you who came to join us to celebrate Harvest.

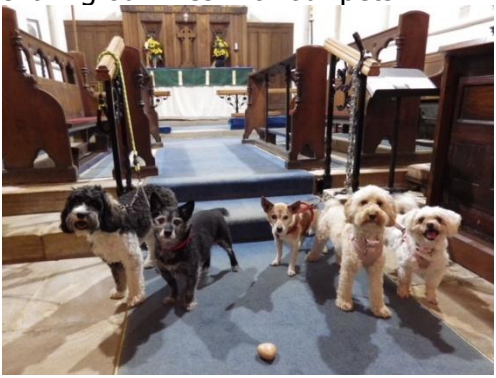

Our Pet Service, Sunday 27th September

This is the second year we have celebrated pets past and present. Animals, their owners and their friends gathered together for a short service of prayer and praise. This year, we welcomed 13 very well behaved dogs as well as a beautiful, white chicken by the name of Olive.

It was so special to be present as Rachel gave a blessing to each individual pet. Those who could not be present were represented by a photograph. One pet owner brought a small heart pendant to be blessed in memory of his dog. Animals play such an important part in our lives, they bring such joy, the grief we suffer at their loss is hard to bear. Thank you Rachel for giving us space to share the love, joy and companionship that comes with sharing our lives with our pets.

CHURCHYARD WORKING PARTY

Dates for your diary
Saturday 14th November : Saturday 12th December

No pictures this month….well perhaps one or two, but nothing to do with the churchyard. However, there are a few 'Churchyard Ideas' floating about. Read on to see what may be happening over the coming months.

Firstly though, it was a small, select group which convened on 10th October. Autumn had kicked in (well, it began the previous Wednesday, just in time for the Brailsford Ploughing Match) with a good breeze, significantly lower temperatures and sporadic rain. We spent the whole of our time today digging, weeding and planting. Come Spring we hope you will see some new narcissus appearing in various places. This morning's stint was only the start and we hope that more will be planted in time for a good spring show to complement bulbs which already enhance the churchyard. No, I'm not saying where they've been planted, you can just wait and see! As a point of interest: daffodils and narcissus are of the same plant group. Every daffodil is a narcissus but not every narcissus is a daffodil.

Moving on: 'Churchyard Ideas - Conservation'- We are hoping to encourage more wildlife into the churchyard in a very practical way, with the introduction of bird boxes, bat boxes and possibly bug and hedgehog boxes. I must say I haven't seen any hedgehogs around but did see some potential poo ('though not confirmed)! We do have frogs (and probably toads) in the churchyard.

Some years ago I had a bat survey done where I live and four species were found - even more years ago I could still hear bats! There are 18 species of bat in the U.K., with Pipistrelle being the smallest and most common.

As far as bird boxes go we are considering not just the common smaller birds (robin, wren, tits etc.), but boxes suitable for treecreepers and boxes for woodpeckers.

It would be good to encourage swallow/swifts/house martins as these are in great decline, partly because they are often trapped in mist nets on the continent but if/when they arrive in the U.K. they find their dwellings demolished when old properties are renovated. By the way, did you know that swallows arrive in Shottle Gate/Hazelwood on 3rd April each year followed, a week or two later, by house martins?

We also have a number of owls in the area. I know barn owls and little owls have been seen and I think there may be a tawny but can't be sure about that.

So you can see there are plenty of jobs to get on with and we could do with some help. We have a few ideas which are still being formulated and we hope we may be able to encourage and include children in our plans. However, if you are interested in helping and being a part of this important conservation project in any way, then please do get in touch with me (Elizabeth) on 07714484099.

Meanwhile here are a few photos from the 120th Brailsford Ploughing Match and Hedgelaying Competition held this year at Sapperton Manor, Church Broughton.

AFTERNOON TEA AND TALK BY ASHLEY

A good time was had by all on Friday afternoon the 25th September in Hazelwood Memorial Hall. Over 50 attended a delightful afternoon when Ashley Franklin gave a very informative talk of his work as a writer and photographer for Derbyshire Life Magazine. Ashley talked us through many towns and villages around Derbyshire which he illustrated by his stunning photographs and we thank him for giving us his time.

As you can see, we then enjoyed an afternoon tea with scrumptious cakes made by the ladies of Hazelwood Church.

A big thank you goes to all who helped by either baking cakes, giving raffle prizes or helping on the day to make this a very successful fund raising event for St John's Church.

It was also lovely to see Norrie who was able to attend.

BOOK REVIEW

FUNNY THING GETTING OLDER

by

MICHAEL MORPURGO

This delightful book is a reflection by the wonderful storyteller Michael Morpurgo. He tells us about his writing and how his fiction evolves from real life experiences. Much of his life appears in his stories. He says that a story is like a kite, swooping and soaring, pleasing his heart when it floats on the wind.

He has written more than 150 books mainly for children. And more than 100,000 urban children have spent a week on his farm in Devon (Farms for City Children - the charity he founded with his wife in 1976).

He brings his talent to his own story- describing a childhood of interrupted pleasure. His father died in the Second World War and his mother remarried and Michael was sent to boarding school which was difficult for him as he was rejected by other pupils.

He turned to teaching and ended each day by telling his class stories (long before the restraints of the National Curriculum).

His message is an optimism that enables him to address life's darkest moments as seen in books about war, for example War Horse.
The reflections are presented as essays or poems, some are deeply personal, some are political and others in between. Woven amongst them is a play, a poem or two and even a few stories.

It is an easy book to read and you can almost hear Michael reading this out loud. Highly recommended.

SHOTTLEGATE & DISTRICT W.I (EST.1918)

Meeting the first Wednesday of each month @ 7pm

We welcomed Judith Barclay as our guest speaker to tell us about how her debut novel came to be written.

Although Judith lives in Derbyshire she was born and brought up in Goodwick, Pembrokeshire, where she also went to school. In Goodwick there were several Italian families and the children of these families went to the same local school as Judith. The families worked in the area and there was also a cafe owned by one of the Italian families - a favourite venue for families and children to meet after the school - Judith's friends, including Judith's 'best friend' Maria.

Judith's family went on holiday each year to Italy, Rome and Capri being the favourites. Eventually Judith went to university where she met a fellow student - Maria (Italian) who became a friend for life. Judith gained her degree and teaching qualifications. Leaving university life but still keeping in touch with her Italian friend .

Eventually she met her husband, they married and went on to have two daughters and moved to Italy buying their own home there and becoming part of the community. Hence her debut novel came about 'THE DA CALVI LEGACY'.

Judith was thanked for giving us such an enjoyable talk.
Judith joined us in taking refreshment of home-made cake and biscuits, we all enjoyed this social occasion.

Afterwards several members purchased Judith's debut novel - THE DA CALVI LEGACY .
